Brazilian Association of Head and Neck Cancer (ACBG Brasil)

Co-founder and Executive Director (2015-present)

ACBG Brasil is a private, non-profit civil society organization that works for the benefit of patients with head and neck cancer and their families throughout Brazil. Founded in 2015 with the mission to give voice to those who don't have one and with the long-term vision to reduce the mortality of patients and improve the quality of life for those with head and neck cancer, ACBG Brasil is a national reference in advocacy, inclusion, and information.

Impact:

- Inclusion of the electronic larynx in the SUS (Unified Health System) budget list;
- Correction of the value of the tracheoesophageal prosthesis in the SUS budget list;
- Co-production of a public policy for the health care of tracheostomized and/or laryngectomized individuals in Santa Catarina;
- Approval of legislation to designate July as the National Month for Head and Neck Cancer Prevention;
- Approval of legislation to designate August 11 as the National Day of the Laryngectomized;
- Creation of Rede+Voz, the largest advocacy and social control network in oncology in the country;
- Creation of the National Campaign for Head and Neck Cancer Prevention (#JulhoVerde - Green July).

Santa Catarina State University

Substitute professor - Public Administration (2021-2023)

Between November 2021 and July 2023, I worked as a substitute professor in the Public Administration course at Udesc Esag, teaching the following subjects: Special Topics I (1st term; over 2 semesters), Public Good Co-production (3rd term; over 3 semesters), and Socio-environmental Responsibility Management (6th term; over 4 semesters).

Impact:

- +200 students trained in topics related to democracy, citizenship, engagement, social entrepreneurship, advocacy, social responsibility, ESG, and SDGs.

When life gives me a microphone, I seize every opportunity to share my message and inspire others.

I never let a chance pass by! You have my word that as long as I am alive, my passage through here will not be in vain or passive. I am here to transform!

When we teach young people, they become our true teachers!

When we wish good for others, the good comes back to us twice as much!

After graduation, one day I completed my master's degree, then my doctorate, and eventually became a professor. Dedication, patience, and resilience are fundamental virtues to me. Everything happens in its own time!

My mother didn't have half the opportunities and experiences I've had in my life. This impressive resume you just read only became a reality because I had someone who loved and supported me every day. Love makes all the difference!
